CUBA IN YIELDING MOOD.

PROCTOR HAS A TALK WITH PRESI-DENT OF CONVENTION. Explains Action and Desires of Congress in Passing the Platt Amendment -Already a

Wants $300,000 for Services on CubanLoan Special Cable Despatch to THE SUN. HAVANA, March 22 - Senator Proctor, who has arrived here, says that Congress did not pass the Platt amendment under a misconcepon, but thoroughly realized the situation. The present difficulty, he added, was due to he extreme interpretation given by the ibans to some of the clauses of the amendment, which, when reasonably regarded. should not alarm the Cuban sentiment of ealousy for its own dignity. Congress, in assing the amendment, simply wanted to do what was reasonable and right by both parties. Mr. Proctor had a long interview o-day with Sefor Capota, President of the

One of the questions to which some of the degates have given an extreme interpretaon is that of coaling stations. It is feared that if the Americans should have coaling stations there would be interference with the local administration by the Americans partered there. It is also feared that there ould be friction between the soldiers and Cubans. Another clause which the Cubans do not trust is the one regarding intervention, fearing that the United States would intervene for a trifle. A member of the Committee on Relations says that Gualberto Gomez made a report to the committee to-day at a secret session. The report was accepted by only one other member of the committee. Three either rejected it or wanted it modified. This member of the committee, when questioned admitted that the report was too radical to suit the opinion of a majority of the committee. He said it accerts four articles of the Platt amendment, but those relating to coaling stations, the right of intervention, the Isle of Pines, and embodying the relations in a treaty, are referred to the future government of the Island. Probably the committee feels that there is a possibility of its not having majority in the convention. Some who week ago said it was impossible for the convention to accept the amendment are not so sure now. The recent action of Senores Sanguilly and Monteagudo and the Republican party in Santiago are more the signs of a revulsion of feeling than the cause thereof. The committee adjourned until Tuesday

Gen Wood recently wrote to the Mayor regarding a municipal loan, in which he said that whatever rights or privileges Senor De Armas had should be appraised by the Avuntamiento and settled. Senor De Armas wrote to the Ayuntamiento, putting the value of his claims at 2 per cent of a loan of $15,000,000, plus $50,000 for services rentered the municipality during eight years n connection with a loan. The Ayuntamento immediately voted to give Sefor De Armas $300,000, or 2 per cent on $15,000,000. ut declined to pay him his other claim of $50,000 The $300,000 is to be paid previous to the public letting of a loan La Realidad says it does not blame Senor De Armas. but the City Council should be blamed as it was not its money but the people's with which it was so generous. It adds that the action of the municipality was scandalous beyond expression. It was a plain case of lammany methods, or of "addition, division and silence "

The Mayor says that he will veto the action of the Council Some of the Council-men say that the Council voted to give Senor De Armas $300,000 provided he placed a loan at par. However, the minutes of the municipality say the Council decided to accept Senor De Armas's offer, which was that he would abandon the contract which he alleges was made by the municipality with im to supply the municipality with a 5 per cent. $15,000,000 loan at 90 and allow the loan to go at public letting in exchange for $300,000 cash. Apart from the claim that Senor De Armas had the right to raise the loan on the terms specified above and for relinquishing which he claims $300,000, he was recognized as the agent of the municipality for the loan at one-quarter of 1 per cent. commission.

"Capital, I think, may be invested with safety in Porto Rico, but from the little I saw f Cuba-we were on a flying trip, you know am inclined to doubt the permanency of the order that has been established. The solid business people of the island want to see the authority of the United States there until there is no probability of trouble occurring. A large number of the Cubans who have nothing to lose want absolute independence. They are merely looking for office.

condence. They are merely looking for office."

Congressman Hamilton said: "Our trip was purely for pleasure. The annexation sentiment, judging from the people with whom we came in contact, is not strongly coveloped. There is plenty of room for in-provement in Cuba. I do not believe the people are yet ready for self-government Whatever government they may have in the near future must be experimental, as they have been accustomed for a long time to the peculiar monarchical rule of Spain There seems to be probability of development in Porto Rico. The country is good and the people are good, but they are not energetic."

YESTERDAY'S MUSIC.

The Last of the Trilogy-A Pair of Operas the Evening.

"The Dusk of the Gods" received a most finished presentation yesterday afternoon in the Metropolitan Opera House. The huge building was literally jammed, and Revulsion of Feeling Senor De Armas between the acts the floor was strewn with young people. Scores delayed luncheons and in one corner on the Fortieth street side a youthful person was actually camping out with an impromptu couch., where, stretched of the forthcoming act. If the Wagner "craze" is but a "bubble," then that same and it burst only on the drop of each curtain Then the roaring enthusiasm could be heard outside-for Jean de Reszke sang, and with him were Milka Ternina, Edouard de Reszke and Schumann-Heink, Mr. Walter Damrosch conducted.

Jean de Reszke's elder Siegfried is one of his greatest impersonations, just falling short of his Lohengrin and Triston. For obvious reasons he is able to enter into the spirit of younger Siegfried, as remarkable as is that achievement. There is about him the atmosphere of the man by fate foredoomed. This the tenor indicates with exquisite art when he drinks Hagen's fatal brew of forgetfulness. With what memories of Brunnhilde does the gallant warrior grasp the goblet singing: "Vergäss ich Alles was du mir gab'st." If there is any doubt about Siegfried's absolute helplessness in the wind of an evil destiny, and his sincerity in later denying Brunnhilde, these lines should settle that doubt As for the deceit, or rather the question of t, raised by our English cousins, reference to the vocal score page 322 will give the clue to the Valkyr's raging denunciation of her former husband. There she sings "From his own true lady, only beloved, he shuts himself with his sword." This, after her hot oath sworn at spear's head that the sword hung in its scabbard on the wall during the night when Sicgfried personated Hagen to win that weak gentleman a bride, is rather contradictory. The easiest solution of the riddle for riddle it has been to many ingenious pamphleteers seems to lie in the fact that Brunnhilde, furious seems to lie in the fact that Brunnhilde, furious Siegiriad's supposed treachery, allowed gen and Genther to believe that she was hero's wife on the particular night—as was not. Wagner is very clear on that

"The Messenger Boy," one of the most recent successes of this kind, will be run next September at Daly's, where it will be sung by Nixon A Zimmerman's company. "My company may be somewhat smaller," Mr. Frohman said, "because I had last year twenty-six actors under salary and rarely found employment for more than ten of them at a time. But I have retained most of the popular actors in the company and have engaged others to take the place of those who are leaving the important places. The policy of the theatre will remain the same I have always followed."

Mabel Gilman Undergoes Slight Operation. As all good things are said to be three, Mabel Gilman submitted yesterday to a slight operation for the removal of an almost microscopic growth on one of her vocal chords. She had been troubled with hoarseness, but now expects to be entirely well within a day or two.

Salary Doesn't Fix the Grade of Work.

The Appellate Division of the Supreme Court yesterday sustained an order of the lower court directing the Civil Service Commissioners to certify a payroll so that Abramissioners to certify a payroll so that Abraham Ludholz shall receive as a topographical draughtsman a salary at the rate of $1,800 a year, which had been increased from $1,320. The commissioners contended that the raise of salary was in fact a promotion to the place of leveller, and that before he would be entitled to the raise Ludholz would have to pass a civil service examination. The Court says that he remained a draughtsman and as such was entitled to the increase of pay. It says that the place and not the salary fives the grade of work. Justices Ingraham and Justice Van Brunt dissented, holding that the increase of salary was a promotion.

TWAS BAD DAY FOR CADETS

ONE CONVICTED OF ABDUCTION AND A SECOND SOUNDLY KICKED.

Greenberg, the Man Who Placed His Child Wife In Houses of Ill-Fame, Will Be Sent to Prison

A Sympathizer of His Threatens Mrs. Greenberg and Meets Swift Retribution. The conviction of Louis Greenberg for abducting his seventeen-year-old wife and imprisoning her in houses of ill-fame after he upon her back, she calmly studied the music | had married her at the City Hall, followed by Red Light "cadet" who threatened Mrs. to comply saying she had not made a bubble was very much distended yesterday. | Greenberg when the verdict was announced, made things interesting in Judge McMahon's Court of General Sessions yesterday after- face. Little Mrs. Greenberg, the complainant, won much sympathy for her, has suffered more and more each day of the trial. She has wept while on the witness stand and while listening to the testimony, and during the summing up, when Mr. Brekstone attacked the character with more success than in the her character yesterday morning, she fainted. The court room was crowded when the afternoon session began. About thirty of the Allen street "cadets" and "Lighthouse Fusileers" were on hand to learn as early as possible the verdict in regard to their companion in crime. So was Inspector Thompson, who spent a lot of time inspecting the countenances of the "cadets." "The Inspector is apt to know those fellows when he sees them again," commented a spectator who observed Thompson's scrutiny of the cadets. Subsequent events revealed to them the Inspector's identity and they will also remember him. In summing up Mr. Brekstone referred sarcastically to Thompson's failure to raid the disorderly houses in his inspection district in which Mrs. Greenberg was imprisoned, until the Fifteen took up the When Judge McMahon finished his charge

When Judge McMahon finished his charge the defendant's lowyers presented a number of requests for additional charges.

"We ask," said Mr. Brekstone, "the Court to charge that the testimony of Henrietta Greenberg and Dora Schneiderman be disregarded as the testimony of prostitutes."

"Denied!" said the Judge.

"We ask the Court to charge that the testimony of Greenberg as a reputable citizen shall be considered by the Jury as against that of the four policemen who testified against him. Judge McMahon from the days the lawyer proceeded to unfold his request.

NOT CRUEL TO A PUPIL.

Jury Acquits a Man, Who Ordered a Girl to Make a Face, of Harsh Treatment.

READING, Pa. March 22.-William L. Pflueger, principal of the Bernville High School, was placed on trial to-day on the charge of cruelty to Florence Shalter, a fourteen-year-old pupil, in not permitting her to enjoy the usual recess allowed to other girls in the school. Miss Shalter testified that while she was working on a problem on Jan 22 she was surprised to hear her teacher, Prof. Pflueger, command her to make an ugly the descent of Instector Thompson upon a face, such as she had made. She refused at him or at any one else, and she did not know how "to make a snoot," or an ugly to make the face that the school might see whose sweet face and dejected demeanor have it, and said that until she did so she would not be permitted to have any recess. Jennie Brobst corroborated this but admitted that Florence Shalter was a tease. Anna Bright gave similar testimony. Teacher Pflueger testifled that Miss Shalter was a tease; that she annoyed the other girls; that while he was hearing a class he suddenly turned toward Miss Shalter and detected her making a face at him, or some one else; that he requested her to make the face again which she refused, saying she didn't know how, and he there and then ordered her to the front to make the face or not be permitted to have recess for the balance of the term. He believed that those who ridicule others can best be cured by being made ridiculous themselves. He had consulted the girl's mother afterward and Mrs. Shalter had told her daughter to comply with the request of the teacher and end the incident. As yet, this had not been done. For the sake of discipline this must be com-On charging the jury Judge Endlish

Play Over the Ormond. Chicora and Pine Forest Links - Dates Announced for the Open Spring Competition at Lakewood - A Spe cial Meeting to Be Held by Apawamis Club A special meeting has been called by the Governors of the Apawamis Club, to be held in the clubhouse at Rye on Saturday evening. March 30. It is proposed to make certain changes in the constitution that will increase the number of members and incidentally the cost of membership, steps which the majority of the members believe to be fully warranted by the prestige of the club and what it has to offer in the way of links and clubhouse accommodations. Since the decision of the M. G. A. to hold the championship at Apawamis the third week in May there has been a rush of applicants for membership. The effects of the amendments to be acted on at the special meeting are to increase the number of resident members and non-resident members each from 175 to 200; to require non-resident members to pay an initiaion fee of $50; to ncrease the initiation fee of active members from $50 to $75, and to provide for a class of life members, not to exceed the number of twenty-five. Any active member may become a life member on payment of $500 The life members shall have the rights and privileges and be subject to all the obligations and penalties of active members, except that they shall be exempt from the payment of annual dues. The amendments also define more clearly the term of office of the Governors and strike out certain provisions classifying the members of the Board of Governors no longer necessary

PALM BEACH, Fla. March 22 - The ama eur holding the record for the links, H M Forrest of Philadelphia, and the profession A. H. Fenn, who holds the "pro" record of 70, played a match to-day of eighteen hole which aroused great interest. The amateu started out grandly and had the "pro" a down at the turn, going out in 32, which is four strokes under begey, while the "pro" was one stroke under, with a score of one under fours. This was fast golf, indeed, too fast for the amateur, who fell off on the last nine and after losing the honor at the tenth hole, finished the match 2 down and to play to the professional. Fenn's last nine holes were pretty indeed, nothing over a four and impossible to beat. The card is interesting:

By the advice of one of my medical attendants, and emphatically as a dernier resort, I determined to make use BUFFALO LITHIA WATER, Spring No. 2, I am frank to say, of the BUFFALO LITHIA WATER, without faith in its virtue, having but little confidence in mineral waters. The use, however, of a few cases of the Water was attended by beneficial results so remarkable that I was soon able to be out of bed and upon my feet, and my improvement has continued until I AM NOW ACTIVELY ENGAGED IN THE PRACTICE OF MY PROFESSION, MEETING, WITHOUT ANY UNUSUAL INCONVENIENCE, ALL THE EXPOSURE AND HARDSHIP INCIDENTAL TO THE LIFE OF A PHYSICIAN IN A MOUNTAIN COUNTRY. YACHTING. Independence Will Not Be Launched Until Late in April. Boston, March 22. - Another frame for the balance rudder of the Independence is to be east. The builders are afraid the present one is not composed of metal strong enough to stand the big strain which is bound to bear talk of an early launching day was resumed this afternoon among yachtsmen, who inspected the progress made on the boat, but Lawley says the craft will not go overboard until well along toward the last of April. He says there is no truth in the reports that the launching would take place before the aluminum deck plates were in place. He considers there is plenty of work to do after CHARLESTON, March 22 -- It is probable that | the Tobin bronze plates are on, such as rivet-
